

TENET for Microsoft MSP Profitability

Increase margin per customer, reduce cost to serve, and strengthen security across every Microsoft environment you manage.

Overview

Microsoft licensing defines the environments you manage, but on its own it does not deliver the margins, consistency, or security standardization required to grow efficiently as an MSP.

By integrating continuous risk intelligence, monitoring, and security assessments across every tenant you manage, TENET transforms Microsoft environments into a secure, unified, and centrally managed portfolio. Replace fragmented tools and reactive operations with a proactive, scalable and intelligent security model.

This standardization drives real outcomes: Faster investigations, reduced tool sprawl, lower cost-to-serve, higher margins, and repeatable security delivery across every Microsoft environment.

The result is not just stronger protection — it's a predictable, scalable operating model that converts Microsoft adoption into operational efficiency and recurring profit.

Benefits

- Increase margin per customer with an expanded security footprint with a managed risk operations center.
- Reduce operational overhead with a tightly integrated Microsoft and TENET stack that delivers less alert noise, more visibility, and improved overall efficiency.
- Stronger protection without expanding your team through TENET which leverages Microsoft telemetry to identify security risks and provide remediation insights tailored to your managed tenants.

Why MSPs win with a unified Microsoft & TENET stack

Increased margin per customer

Microsoft licensing margins are shrinking by each fiscal year. TENET gives your practice a high-margin security revenue, creating a stronger, defensible blended profit engine per customer.

TENET expands your security footprint (AI, Identity, Compliance, Shadow IT, Attack surface & Exposure management) unlocking higher recurring revenue per customer.

Reduced operational overhead

A single security vendor tightly integrated with Microsoft means fewer dashboards, less alert noise, and correlated Microsoft & TENET telemetry for faster investigations and continuous visibility.

TENET delivers cloud risk intelligence and gives MSPs a single source of truth, reducing investigation time, eliminating multi-vendor escalation loops, and improving overall efficiency.

Stronger security without expanding your team

TENET continuously analyses your Azure and Microsoft 365 environments using Microsoft-native telemetry to identify and prioritize the risks that matter most so your team can accomplish more with less.

TENET gives your team complete control over risk remediation with prioritized insights, guided remediation, and continuous validation enhanced by an AI-powered security consultant that adapts to the way your security team operates.

What MSPs can standardize across every Microsoft customer

- Continuous risk detection using Microsoft telemetry to identify Azure and Microsoft 365 threats that standalone tools can miss.
- Risk-prioritized findings with guided remediation that turn early warning signals into actionable insights.
- Enhanced Identity, application, M365, Azure and AI security for all Microsoft SKUs.
- Automated compliance monitoring and evidence collection mapped to industry frameworks.
- Centralized multi-tenant management dashboard and white-labelled executive ready reports.

A single, standardized security model reduces onboarding time, eliminates multi-vendor overhead and lowers cost-to-serve so margins scale with every customer environment.

Conclusion

Many vendors and service providers position value in terms of theoretical ROI or projected cost savings that vary from one environment to the next, but your business runs on measurable, repeatable margins, not assumptions.

Microsoft licensing defines the environments you manage but delivers limited margin expansion on its own. Integrating with TENET add a consistent, scalable revenue layer supported by standardized operations and continuous protection.

This model is predictable, repeatable, and operationally sustainable. By aligning the Microsoft environments, you already manage with TENET's integrated security delivery, you create a clear path to higher recurring revenue, stronger customer retention, and long-term business growth.
